I'M ON A BOAT

JBL + others have sent out enough e-mails about this so I will spare you. But go to the Yacht Formal. Last Yacht Formal I met Jenn Goldberg and my life has never been the same. In the best way possible. And now she's my mom. #waitwhat Also, the Yacht Formal is the big finale to RC Week, which will have water balloon fights, special dinners, "tailgates" and a Quidditch match. Hit it and quiddit, ya know? More about that in future e-mails.

EXCURSIONS

If you don't go to ACMs, you don't get to sign up for these wonderful trips which are totes free. If you sign up for an excursion, decide you can't go and nobody replaces you, you must sell your soul to Roger Boye as punishment. Well, that's not really punishment is it? I feel like selling my soul to Roger would be a major upgrade. He would take good care of it. But fo realz, pay up if you can't get somebody to fill your spot otherwise exec will be gettin' that money. Keep in mind other res colleges make you pay for these trips. We don't because CRC is loaded like you can't believe. #lie Things we will go to: Peter Pan, Wait Wait Don't Tell Me, Second City (!!!!!) and a play that Roger is super psyched about called A Civil War Christmas. All I want to know is if there are vampires involved. Because if so I will be there faster than you can say "Jessica! As your maker I command you!" #MyLifelsTrueBlood

BEAT THE CRAP OUT OF PARC (OMG GET IT?)

We gonna dominate PARC in capture the flag. Thursday night, it's going down like a Young Joc song. 11PM. It's gonna be near Deering toward the mini-arch. There may be construction, but that makes it more fun. Rusty nails in your foot, yum. Just kidding. Do it for adventure, though.

FIRESIDES

Kaitlyn, your fabulous and super lesbian Vice President (also known as KJVP or KJesus) will be hosting a fireside on points after the ACM next sunday. She also announced that when you make attendance sheets for events to get points (which she will explain at the fireside), do it right because she's not gonna run around trying to figure out who went to your event.

Julie is working on getting Fitz to come. Like, the football coach. Not CRC resident Fritz, who is also cool. And maybe there will be a Morty fireside? I want to go to there! Aaaaaaand it doesn't end there. The man, the legend, John Kupetz himself will do a movie night at some point. I don't even know what that will involve, but for now, just know Kupetz = you should be there. He cray cray. In a good way. #rhyme

Oh, let's not forget about Coltrain. His "Don't Go to Grad School" lecture is coming up this fall, and his annual résumé workshop will happen in early winter. He also wanted to announce that we (CRC) have a special section in Hinman reserved just for us to eat. So don't ever worry about finding somebody to go to the dining hall with. Just show up and somebody will be there. Also, we're kind of like octogenarians (people in their 80s what what) and so most of us eat hella early at around 5 p.m.

MONIEZ

Sarah says to spend your sweet, sweet suite money. Suite money is where each suite gets $50 to spend on whatever they want per quarter, but only in that quarter. They don't roll over. USE IT OR LOSE IT. Also, pick something reasonable. Like snacks. (Hey 2-blue, let's buy snacks). Rather than something obscure. Like flesh-colored body suits for all. #truestory No smokey smokey or dranky dranky. But bubble wrap is a'ight.

EQUIPMENT

Nate says we have to start over with the treadmill we were going to buy. No clue why. We should interrogate him viciously about what wrong. WHAT WENT WRONG NATE, HUH? HUH? YEAH THAT'S WHAT I THOUGHT. But we also gotta replace shiz like the ping pong stuff. Damn cherubs, always messing with our junk. #thatswhatshesaid But they're also getting stuff like Wii remotes and other things I can't remember but would make you happy if I told you what they were.

SUNSHINE SOCIAL

Lots of cute cute things planned by this lovely bunch. There are root beer floats planned for next Sunday. And there will be coke. For coke floats. Not your drug problem. That happens later. #justkidding #drugsareseriousandshouldnotbejokedabout

PHILANTHROPEEZY

Shaina and Rebecca sent a surveizzle for your peopizzles to respondizzle asapizzle. How will they know if you prefer to hang with small children versus playing with animals or planting community gardens? Also, Shaina + Rebecca = Shabecca. Don't you love it? Also also, they say do Dance Marathon. Which you totally should. But a word about that: you have to fundraise before you dance. You'd think this was a well-known fact, some people (cough ME cough) thought that some mysterious corporate entity was sponsoring us so that dancing for 30 hours magically raised the $800 minimum for each dancing pair. Not how it works.

KEYS LOUISE

Marlock keys. This makes me think of like, Dungeons and Dragons and shit. Also, when you go to Plex to the key office to get your key (which opens up special rooms in CRC), you will meet my fav administrative person ever. When I lost my key last year, she warmed my soul. I never felt so good about forking over hella dough to pay for my mistakes. Her name is LaRita and she is dope.

INTRAMURAL STUFF

Danny and Eddie are your IM Chairs and they sent out a survey. Get it girls. No really. Girls, like, actually get it and do it because there is always a shortage and sometimes we forfeit if the ladies aren't playing for our team, ya dig? I forget what the sports are this quarter, but I'm 99 percent sure there is flag football, volleyball and dodgeball! Crikey. I might actually start going to these.
